TURING

SCHEME

Funded by the UK's global programme to study and work abroad

Turing Scheme

Funded by the UK Government

Your College, in partnership with Think Pacific, successfully won funding from the UK Government's Turing Scheme!

What is the Turing Scheme?

- The Turing scheme is a student mobility funding scheme, established by the UK Department for Education in 2021, as a replacement for the Erasmus Scheme.
- All FE Colleges + HE Universities in the UK are eligible to apply for Turing Scheme funding, however it is incredibly competitive.
- These trips aim to develop global awareness, boost employability, and offer a chance to gain new skills.
- Additional funding is offered for Widening Participation, aiming to give more students access to international experiences.

What Will You Gain?

Enhancing Enrichment & Employability

1. Cultural Immersion: Experience Balinese traditions and customs.
2. Skill Development: Gain leadership, teamwork, and sector specific skills.
3. Community Impact: Contribute to sustainable development projects.
4. Global Citizenship: Build awareness of global challenges and solutions.
5. Personal Growth: Boost confidence, adaptability, and resilience.
6. Employability: Enhance your CV and increase career opportunities

Regenerative Tourism...

The importance of sustainable tourism

- Tourism has played a large part in both Thailand and Bali's economic growth & international identity. Many locals rely on tourism for their livelihood, however it can cause many issues.
- Environmental pressures & social challenges, including animal exploitation, cultural disrespect, environmental damage and overtourism are negatively impacting Bali & Thailand.
- By participating on a Think Pacific project, you are contributing towards responsible, ethical and sustainable tourism, which comes with specific guidelines, dresscodes and our code of conduct.

Accommodation

- All accommodation used on a Think Pacific project will be good standard homestays (Bali) or hotels (Bali + Thailand)
- Close to locations for partner visits, cultural experiences and team-based activities
- Students will share in rooms of 2-3 (hotels) and 2-6 (homestays), with individual single beds
- Breakfast will be provided at the hotel or homestay

Some Potential Challenges...

Mindset & Motivation is Key

Undertaking a project such as this is incredible but also demanding and requires resilience & maturity. Challenges may include:

- Being far away from home/ homesickness
- Long haul flight to/from Bali or Thailand
- New and different foods, cultural norms and perspectives
- Tropical Climate & humidity
- Mosquitoes & other bugs
- Culture shock (eg. visiting traditional village)
- Shared accommodation & lack of privacy
- Illness on Project
- Busy programme schedule - professional placement!

Safety & Support...

A structured and guided experience

- High Standards - We adhere to strict British Standard Guidelines, complete full risk assessments and have comprehensive management plans for participant safety.
- 24/7 back up - Think Pacific's staff team in Bali and Chiang Mai oversee the project, with UK support
- Support - College staff and TP staff accompany you for the whole experience, guiding each day and being your no. 1 point of contact
- Health Care - We are only ever a short distance to the nearest medical facility. Bali & Chiang Mai are both safe and healthy places.

Pre-Departure Support

Guiding you through every step...

Once all the selected students have confirmed their place,

Think Pacific will:

- Deliver additional online briefing sessions for students, parents/ carers and staff
- Provide a Pre-Departure portal (webpage) with all advice (kit list, vaccinations, travel details, etc)
- Work alongside College staff to confirm all trip details for students and parents/carers.

Why You Should Join a TP Project?

Before taking the next step...

1. If you are open-minded and willing to take on new challenges with a learning mindset.
2. If you have a passion for encountering new perspectives.
3. You want to personally and professionally develop through the project and you understand how that will happen.
4. You are agreeing to uphold Think Pacific's Code of Conduct and the College's expectations whilst representing them for the duration of the project.
